REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT

1966-67

Your Excellency, Reverend Chairman and Members of the Board of Trustees, it gives me great pleasure to present to you the Annual Report of 1966-1967. This academic year marked an era of achievement and progress for Molloy Catholic College, which merited for the college the status of accreditation. Molloy became an accredited institution of higher learning by the Middle States Association on April 21, 1967, the feast of St. Anselm.

Molloy, with all colleges, shares a concern for excellence - excellence of faculty, of students, of facilities. It is pledged to excellence. The college had its opportunity for an objective test in excellence in February 1967 when a team of three representing the Middle States Association of Colleges and Universities, under the chairmanship of Dr. Raymond S. Haupert, President of Moravian College, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, returned to the campus to assess its quality. The professional involvement and interaction of the entire college community which comprised trustees, administration, faculty, student, and alumnae, are responsible for the success achieved and the hope that lies ahead in spite of the gloomy predictions made concerning the plight of small independent private colleges and especially the future in higher education in Catholic colleges.

The year 1966-1967 was one of achievement, progress and academic dedication. This will be clarified in the report that follows.

ACADEMIC GROWTH

1966 brought a substantial growth in enrolment. The full time enrolment in September 1966 totalled 520 students as compared with 381 in 1965. In the Spring semester of 1967 there were 511 full time students as compared with 386 in 1966. The number of matriculated students who withdrew in January 1967 was 21 while only 12 transfer students were admitted at that time. This accounts for the enrolment drop of 9 students. In the part-time session 254 students were registered in the Fall semester and 305 in the Spring semester. There were 156 matriculated students in the part-time session in February 1966.

The Freshman enrolment reached an all-high of 194 students. This represented 36 more than in 1965 when the Class of 1969 totalled 158 students. Enrolment figures show that 393 applications were received for the class entering September 1966 of which 105 withdrew after acceptance, 77 were rejected and 17 did not complete applications.

The well-planned recruitment program resulted in attracting 69 students from 36 public schools and 125 from 29 Catholic schools from Nassau, Suffolk, Queens counties; from Brooklyn and New York City. There was one student from Kenya in the freshmen class. Among the freshmen admitted, 41 were enrolled in the nursing program.

The Enrolment Projection for September 1966 predicted 177 freshmen. The projection on the whole proved to be too conservative since the increase in total enrolment from projected to actual was 63 students.

As part of the recruitment program, successful College Nights were attended at Mercy High School, Riverhead; Seton Hall High School, Patchogue, Bishop Reilly, Flushing and on the home campus. Individual programs were held at four high schools in the diocese of Brooklyn.

Thirty public high schools were visited by the Director of Admissions to acquaint guidance officers and interested students with the offerings at the college. The means SAT (Scholastic Aptitude Test) scores for the Class of 1970 were 523.1 verbal and 515.4 math and the mean average was 84.5%.

Open House was held for High School juniors on April 18 and 19 at which 200 students attended.

At St. Albert College, Institutional

Branch of Molloy College, there were 59 full time and 73 part-time students, a total of 132 on register in the Fall term of 1966 and 129 in the Spring semester.

During the summer session of 1966 there were 128 students registered at Molloy College campus and 80 at St. Albert campus.

CURRICULUM

In an effort to meet the needs of the student and to serve her best in the pursuit of her goal, curriculum expansion and innovation were encouraged. At the request of the Education Department of Rockville Centre Diocese five sections of Art in the Elementary Schools were added. The course was to prepare teachers in implementing the new syllabus used in the elementary schools of the diocese. Sister Mary Ann, O.P., M.F.A. of Molloy College acted as coordinator of the program and worked with five highly qualified faculty members.

At the request of the Diocesan Office of Education, Methods in Science for Secondary Schools was offered off campus at three centers. The diocese supplied the six faculty members who met with the Academic Dean to set up the procedures and outlines of content of the course. The college awarded three credits to the participants.

To aid in the adjustment of the freshmen into the college, the credit load was reduced to 15 credits in the first semester. Two additional credits were permitted to be taken in the second semester if an index of 2 was attained at the end of the first semester.

To stimulate interest and enthusiasm the physics department innovated a new procedure in laboratory work. Open-end experiments were introduced with no instructions given except the objective. This proved to be successful experimentation.

In the area of biology, in Anatomy and Physiology, previously a lecture-demonstration course, a laboratory section will be implemented in the Fall of 1967. A new course entitled Vertebrate Morphology, integrating Comparative Anatomy, Embryology and Histology, will also be intro-

An experimental course, Philosophical Problems in Twentieth-Century Literature, was team-taught by members of the English, French and Spanish departments. The three credits were given in the area of the student's choice. For both students and faculty this innovated course provided an experience of lively exchange of diverse opinions with complete integrity. The course proved very satisfactory and will be repeated every two years.

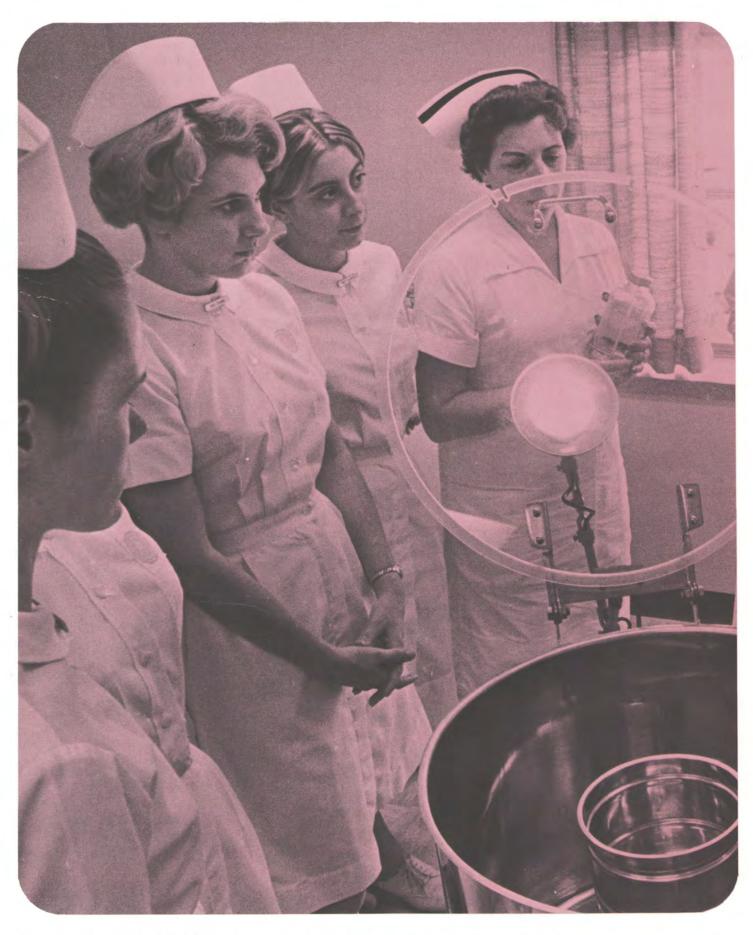

In the Nursing Division comprising 75 students, all courses were "team taught." This method proved most effective and will be continued.

Commencing September 1966 the Spanish Department began to function as a department. Previously it was assimilated with French under the Modern Language Department.

In the area of psychology, students pursuing Personal Adjustment had the option of either preparing a reaction report in writing on supplementary readings or giving an hour weekly to visiting patients in the psychiatric clinic at Mercy Hospital. Twenty-seven of the fifty-five students elected the latter.

The decision to eliminate comprehensive examinations and retain GRE for all seniors was endorsed by faculty and administration.

Nursing students gaining clinical experience at Mercy Hospital utilize a team teaching method as they learn about kidney dialysis procedures and inspect an artificial kidney.

THE FACULTY

The measure of success of a college depends upon its faculty and its professional approach. Good teaching is the hallmark of a great college. Molloy was fortunate in having a dedicated, interested, intellectually qualified faculty comprising 71 members. Of these 11 were in administration. 17 held earned doctorates, 43 held Masters degrees of whom 11 were candidates for the doctorate, and 9 held Bachelor's degrees of whom 6 were in course for the Master's degree. There were 38 full time instructors and 22 part-time lec-

Colleges are called upon increasingly to provide faculty members with leaves of absence from teaching and campus activities for various reasons. Two nursing faculty members were on leave to complete doctorate studies—SISTER JOSEPH MARY at Pittsburgh University and MISS CORNELIA HARNETT at N.Y.U. Both will return to campus in September 1968.

SISTER JONATHAN received her M.S. from Columbia University on a federal grant and will pursue her doctorate on a National Fellowship.

SISTER MARY ANN received her M.F.A. degree from Pratt Institute and began her doctoral studies at N.Y.U. in Art Education. SISTER MARY ALLISON received her M.S. in Library Science from Villanova University and Mr. James Prevet his M.A. in philosophy from St. John's University.

SISTER HELEN THERESE accepted a grant for an institute in "Polymer Chemistry" at San Jose College, San Jose, California July 10-Aug. 11, 1967 sponsored jointly by the college and NSF. Sister was the recipient of two other grants awarded by NSF Summer Institutes; one in "Modern Analytical Chemistry" at Michigan State University and the other in "Instrumental Methods of Analysis" at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. Troy, New York.

SISTER AEMILIA was awarded a grant to attend a short course on "Colloid, Surface and Macromolecules Chemistry" at Lehigh University, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania.

PROFESSIONAL ACTIVITIES

During the academic year 1966-1967 the faculty represented Molloy at many national and local conventions, workshops, institutes and meetings too numerous to indicate. Several faculty members also served on committees. There are, however, a few that are significant and merit on April 15, 1967.

SISTER OWEN PAUL was appointed member of the Advisory Committee to the Cultural Arts Program of C.Y.O. She was also appointed to the Curriculum Committee for the New York State Speech Association.

To further spread the image of Molloy, faculty members were very active in several ways.

SISTER MARY ANN in January 1967 was the recipient of a Research Grant for the study of Children's Art Education by the Institute for the Study of Art in Education. In conjunction with this, Sister conducted a depth study of second grade art teaching in St. Catherine of Siena School, Franklin Square, New York.

SISTER MARY ANN presented three One-man Shows. The first was held at the Nassau County Executive Office Building from September 12 to October 14 under the sponsorship of Mr. Nickerson and Mr. Byron Belt. The second was exhibited in the Mental Health Wing in Mercy Hospital in December 1966. Sister also exhibited her art at Georgian College, Lakewood, New Jersey during the month of January 1967 where a reception was tendered to her and her guests by the Administration and Art Department.

SISTER GRACE REGINA, Chairman of the Psychology Department, addressed a CCD group of teachers on "Psychological Aspects in Teaching Religion to Children." She also participated in a panel discussion on "Sex Education, the Parents' Responsibility" presented in May to parents of junior high school level of St. Boniface Parish, Elmont, New York.

SISTER ROSE ANTHONY of the Theology Department reviewed in February 1967 for the St. Agnes Cathedral Rosary Society, April Arm-strong's book, "What Is Happening to the Catholic Church."

SISTER MARLENE, Chairman of Philosophy, served on a panel entitled "The Role of the Religious Functionary in Contemporary Society" held at Manhattan College, New York on March 8, 1967.

MR. JAMES PREVET also of the philosophy department was moderator of the panel on "The Just Man-The Just War" sponsored by the Philosophy and International Relations Clubs of Molloy College.

SISTER AEMILIA, member of the chemistry department, demonstrated original projectuals used in teaching various aspects of chemistry to members of the Brooklyn Catholic Science Council.

SISTER OWEN PAUL, Chairman of Speech Department, gave a lecture on "Creative Dramatics" at Queens College for graduate student-teachers of the disadvantaged.

"Involvement Today for Tomorrow" was the title of a talk given by SISTER ESTHER REGIS when she addressed the Newman Club members of East Meadow High School.

SISTER ROSE TERESA, Chairman of Spanish Department, was one of the four panelists discussing "Articulation between High Schools and Colleges in Foreign Language Teaching" at St. John the Baptist High School. This was sponsored by the Rockville Centre Diocese Academic Council of Foreign Language Teachers on March 14, 1967.

SISTER MARY WILLIAM, another member of the Spanish Department, spoke on "Opportunities for Foreign Language Students" to juniors and seniors at Christ the King High School, Middle Village.

MISS MARJORIE STANTON, Chairman of the Nursing Division, participated on a panel "The American College Workshop" held at MacArthur High School. She discussed the changing curriculum in the collegiate and university nursing programs.

At the Twelfth Annual Conference, New York State Teachers Association, North Nassau Zone, MR. FRANK FORD spoke on "A Tentative Proposal on High School and College Teachers Responsibilities for Teaching Literature." MISS EMILIE SAIR, an alumna of Molloy, Class '61, chaired the program.

At the New York State Education Department Conference on College and University Programs for Teachers of Disadvantaged held at Yeshiva University, April 10-11, SISTER FRANCIS MAUREEN, Academic Dean, participated in a panel discussion on "Concern for People." She drew on her experiences from her years spent in Puerto Rico.

SISTER ESTHER REGIS conducted a discussion session at New York Association for Student Teaching in Syracuse, New York on May 19.

From the pens of the Molloy Faculty came SISTER MARIE CHAMI-NADE'S article entitled "When Urban Renewal Came to Town" published in the January 1967 issue of The Catholic School Journal. This aims to develop a knowledge of environment and the fundamentals of citizenship in the primary grades.

DR. RITA O'MARA edited and reviewed a first year ALM French text "Les Nouveaux Horizons" for Bruce Publishing Co.

In the May issue of The Catholic School Journal, SISTER ESTHER REGIS' article on "Middle-Graders Evaluate Themselves and Their Heroes" ap-

The article entitled "Pierre Teilhard de Chardin, A Prophecy-Is It Being Fulfilled Today?" written by SISTER HELEN THERESE, was to be published in the Sacred Heart Messenger

STUDENT ACTIVITIES

The primary concern of Molloy Catholic College for Women is the students. Molloy's administration and faculty are concerned not only with the intellectual growth and achievements of its students but also with the spiritual, emotional and social growth. This development of the full man is made more evident through the following listings of student activities engaged in during the 1966-1967 academic year.

The scholastic year began with the Mass of the Holy Spirit on Friday, September 16. For the first time in the history of the college, Reverend Bernard L. Keitz, O.P., Chaplain, held an Orientation period with the students during which time two conferences were given followed by a question and answer period.

REVEREND FREDERICK SCHAEFER, Director of the CCD program in Rockville Centre Diocese gave the Investiture Address when 194 students received their caps and gowns on October 9, 1966.

The Annual Career Day Program was held on October 26, 1966. Representatives from Armed & Civil Services, Communication, Education, Industry, Librarianships, Nursing and Social Work made the day both interesting and profitable.

The Students' Annual Mission Project held on October 23, 1966 netted $2,187. A check for $1,837 was presented to the Propagation of Faith of the Diocese.

In place of the Students' Retreat, two days of Renewal were innovated -one during the fall semester and the other during the spring semester. REVEREND GEORGE HAGMAIER, C. P. from the Paulist Research Center in New York conducted the Day of Renewal on November 11, 1966 and VERY REV. MONSIGNOR GERALD RYAN of Rockville Centre conducted the one on March 10.

To further instil the spirit of ecumenism the first Paschal Seder Supper was sponsored by the Sodality on March 21, and was well attended.

Five students participated in a Readers' Theatre Program for the New York Speech Association Convention. At the Metropolitan Reading Festival held at St. John's University, Mary Allanah Piderit won honors.

A night-long quest for truth entitled "What Does It Mean" was held on April 20 from 7:30 p.m. to m' Jnight at which the upperclassmen of the philosophy club, the philosophy faculty and two English faculty members engaged in provocative, interesting and lively discussions. This session proved so enriching that plans are underway for follow-ups with alumnae in the future.

On April 28, ninety-seven juniors received their rings after a Mass offered at 7:00 p.m. by Reverend Patrick Shanahan, Associate Superintendent of Schools, Rockville Centre.

The Molloy College Glee Club, under the direction of Paul La Medica, performed at the Intercollegiate Glee Club Festival in March 1967 and won the first place trophy. In addition to the Annual "Night of Song" with Fairfield University, four on-campus combined Glee Club Concerts were rendered with Providence College, St. John's University, Villanova University and St. Francis College, respectively.

The Molloy Student Association sponsored two Film Festivals. The films discussed were "SUNDAYS AND CYBELE" and "SEVENTH SEAL."

Students in art learn to master various techniques under the capable direction of Sister Mary Ann who presented several "one man" exhibitions of her works throughout the year.

Graduation brings to a close the enjoyable participation in glee club, dramatics and other activities. But for Anselma Scholar Mary Ellen Martino and all who received their diplomas, Commencement is the beginning of life with knowledge achieved at Molloy.

The Philosophy Club chose as its theme for the 1966-1967 year "Freedom of Conscience." Speakers were invited to discuss this subject. REVEREND HOWARD BASLER spoke on "Freedom of Conscience" and Father Mylar discussed "Freedom and Conscience." In the spring semester, the Philosophy Club wrote, produced and staged a skit entitled the "Art of Selfishness" emphasizing the college smoker and the discotheque mentality. Fourteen contemporary philosophers with the strongest area of impact were quoted.

Masque and Wig, the Drama Club of Molloy College presented its first musical "Little Mary Sunshine" which proved highly successful the-atrically and socially.

A One-Man Show, by a senior, Mary Jo Bauer, was held from April 17 to 24 during which forty-seven of her art pieces of varied media were displayed.

Several of the students engaged in some form of apostolic service. A small group on the invitation of Manhattan College participated in the Appalachian Project during Easter recess. One student worked in the Puerto Rican Summer Project for six weeks, and several worked among the disadvantaged in Head Start and Students Together programs. Members of the Deaf Club continued to work untiringly and selflessly in catechetics with the young deaf children. Sixty-nine students graduated on June 6, 1967 of whom 66 received Bachelor of Arts degrees and three Bachelor of Science degrees. Among the Bachelor of Arts degrees, there were twenty-four education students. The Bachelor of Science degree was awarded to two chemistry majors and one elementary education major. Mary Ellen Martino, graduated Summa Cum Laude and was also the recipient of the Anselma Award, the highest honor conferred at graduation. Three students graduated Cum Laude.

Four graduates were inducted into Kappa Gamma Pi, the National Scholastic and Activity Honor Society of Catholic Women's Colleges and three, into Omicron Alpha Zeta, the Molloy College Honor Society.

DR. GORDON HOXIE, Chancellor of Long Island University and President of C. W. Post College gave the graduation address. At the Commencement Exercises, Mrs. Caroline Schmidt was honored as "Woman of the Year."

Among the honors won by the Class of 1967 were a Teaching Assistantship in Philosophy at the University of Dayton by ANN FITZPAT-RICK; President of Student Council. Assistantship in the Department of History, at St. John's University, was won by MARY ELLEN MARTINO; a one year Scholarship from the National Institute of Mental Health Fordham University School of Social Service was awarded to DONNA NYREEN. All of these assistantships were awarded tuition as well as fees. One student, JUDY A. VALYO, received two Assistantships in Student Personnel for two years - one from Penn State University and the other from N.Y.U. She accepted the latter.

Of the 69 graduates 11 are pursuing Graduate Study; 24 are teaching and the remaining are engaged in Civil Service, Social Work, Research and Commerce.

Two students, JOAN WHITBREAD, Class of '67 and CARMEN ORTIZ '68 respectively were inducted into the Beta Theta Chapter of Alpha Mu Gamma, National Foreign Language Honor Society.

For the first time Molloy College named a student, KATHLEEN KNIPPER, for the St. Catherine of Alexandria medal awarded by Kappa Gamma Pi.

VISITORS TO THE CAMPUS

The most important visitors to the Molloy campus during 1966-1967 were DR. RAYMOND S. HAUPERT, President of Moravian College, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania and Chairman of the Middle States Evaluating Team; SISTER MARY AQUINAS,, R.S.M. of Mt. Mercy College, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania and DR. JOHN A. LU-KACS of Chestnut Hill College, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, who came to the college on February 19 and 20, 1967 on the final evaluation visit. The outcome was most satisfactory since it merited for our college full accreditation status.

DR. JOHN GRANITO, Associate Director of Teacher Education, MR. THEODORE ANDREWS and two assistants visited the campus on October 10, 1966 to review the Teacher Education program of the college for reregistration.

MR. IRWIN FRENCH and DR. JOHN HAINES of the New York State Education Department visited the campus for continued consultation of the Five-Year Curriculum and Faculty addressed the faculty on the "Philosophy of the Curriculum in the Catholic College" on February 27, 1967.

PHILIP SHARPER, lecturer, publisher, author gave a lecture on Love and the Intellectual Life on the evening of March 10.

DR. JOSEPH McMURRAY, President of Queens College and several of his colleagues honored us by his visit to the campus on May 14th to attend the dedication of The James Edward Tobin library.

THE LIBRARY

To honor the man who contributed over 5,000 volumes to the college, the library was named THE JAMES EDWARD TOBIN LIBRARY. This was dedicated on May 14th, 1967 at which time a copper plaque was unveiled in the presence of Dr. and Mrs. James E. Tobin, his family and friends.

While the administration is very much aware that the library holdings fall far short of the New York State Department of Education's 50,000 volume requirement, definite progress has been made during the past year when the library holdings numbered 25,000 volumes and 340 periodicals. In June 1967 there were 30,-000 volumes and 420 periodicals. These numbers represent a 5,000 volume increase and an 80 periodical increase. There was also a backlog of about 2,000 volumes. By June 1968 the minimum standard of 500 periodicals will have been reached.

The 1966-1967 budget was $27,-500. In the microfilm and microfiche areas there were three readers, 322 microfilms on the New York Times and The Tablet and 300 microfilms of 5 years each of six titles of current periodicals.

Bishop Kellenberg and Sister Celeste express Molloy's appreciation to Chancellor R. Gordon Hoxie of Long Island University and to Mrs. Frank F. Schmidt, Molloy's "Woman of the Year" before taking part in the Academic Procession.

As in 1966 so in 1967 the Higher Education Act, Title II awarded a $5,000 basic grant to the library. Approximately one half was spent on periodicals and binding, and the other half on increasing volumes and supply

St. Albert College—Institutional Branch library expanded its holdings to 13,032 catalogued volumes and 417 periodicals. The increase in equipment, volumes, binding and supplies totalled an expenditure of $10,411.80.

STUDENTS FINANCIAL AID

There are 404 students receiving grant-in-aid through Scholar Incentive amounting to $92,253, New York State Regents Scholarships amounting to $50,825 were awarded to 79 students. 144 students borrowed $116,534 under the New York Higher Education Assistance Program. NDSL loans amounting to $4,300 were given to 9 students. In campus employment on the Molloy College Work Scholarship plan $10,384 was earned by 26 students and $12,600 was received by 30 students in other scholarship funds.

Since the library is the heart of the college, without which the college cannot effectively meet its goal, our most pressing immediate need is that of library expansion in volumes, periodicals and microfilm to meet the State requirements, quantitatively and qualitatively, as soon as possible.

With the increase in enrolment, there is need to increase lay faculty. To compete successfully for qualified faculty, salaries play a vital role. To enable a small private college to meet the salary demands and other concommitant financial burdens, there arises a need for subsidization through endowments and donations.

NEEDS OF THE COLLEGE

The need for a Cultural Arts Center to house an auditorium to accommodate about 1500 and classroom space for drama, speech, art, music and dance is growing as enrolment nears capacity. To finance this construction, gifts and grants must be forthcoming.

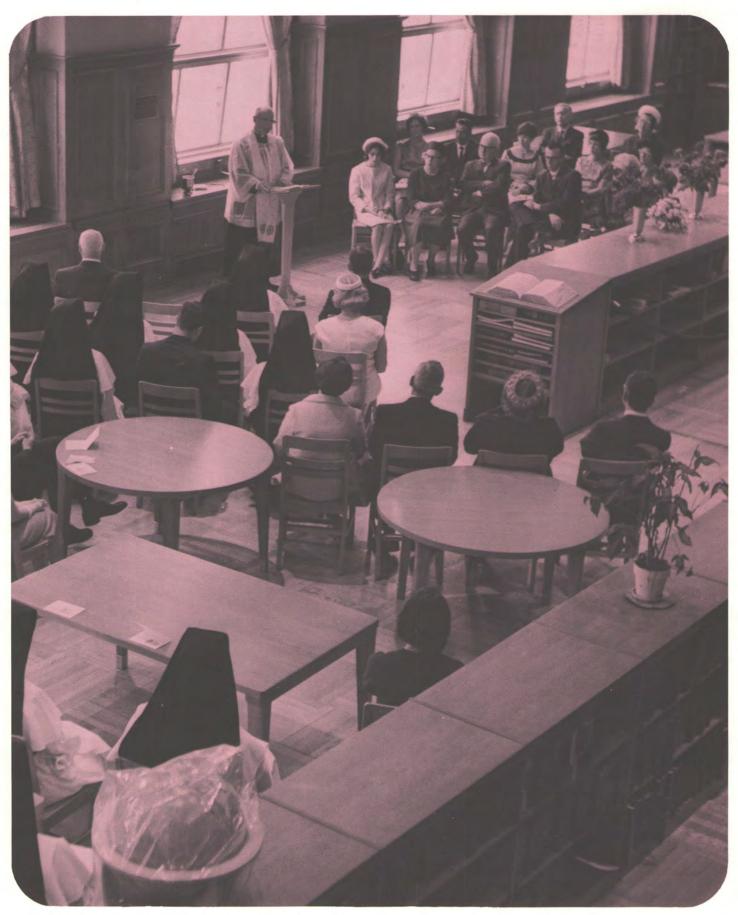

The college looks to those who believe in it to help it by substantial financial support to bring to reality its projected plans.

CONCLUSION

The report aimed to present in some detail to the Board of Trustees and college community, the growth and progress encountered during the 1966-1967 academic year. With it an effort has been made to give a fuller insight into what the administration, faculty and students have accomplished in an effort to meet the challenge of excellence to which it is committed. Academic excellence alone does not fulfill the commitment of Molloy Catholic College. Our concern lies in other areas of responsibility-to develop students who will be committed Christians that have mature, correct social and moral consciences; students who will be more responsive to the interests and purposes of the broad society in which they live; students who will be witnesses to a sound Christian education and thus be witnesses and bearers of Christ to others in whatever realm in society they function in the future. This is the commitment for which Molloy exists as an institution of higher learning. With the continued guidance of the Holy Spirit on administration and faculty, we move forward in concerted effort to achieve our purpose to educate a Christian woman ready to accept the challenge that faces her in this age of mass confusion.

Respectfully submitted

This operating deficit of almost $200,000 was offset in a great measure by the contributed services of the Sisters of St. Dominic of Amityville.

It is clearly obvious that if the religious teaching staff were paid on the same salary scale as the lay faculty members, a substantial amount would have to be added to Molloy's income through increased tuition.

Unfortunately, tuition in this day and age of rising living costs, is still not a tax deductible item. It is therefore hoped that donations and gifts, which are deductible and have a motivational advantage for the donor, will be forthcoming to Molloy Catholic College for Women.

Molloy expresses its gratitude to many faithful friends and benefactors for their generous financial assistance to the College during the past year.

More than $52,000 was realized as the result of the Tenth Anniversary Dinner, the annual Card Party, the Boosters Club, the Night of Song and the diligent efforts by the Molloy Parents Guild, Students and Alumnae of the College as well as the initial effort by our "Women of the Years" in launching our Development Fund.

AFOMIAFOM—"A friend of Molloy is a friend of mine"—is a theme exemplified by enthusiastic students, active Alumnae and devoted Women of the Years as they enlist the support of others in "friend raising" and fund raising for the development of Molloy.
