MONEY'S College Value Rankings

By JERSEY GILBERT

If assessing academic quality is tough, trying to calculate a school's value — its quality relative to price — is an even more difficult task. But after extensive consultation with educational experts and statisticians, MONEY developed a system to examine all schools and identify the ones that deliver the best education for the buck.

Here's how we did it: We used statistical analysis to determine how much each school might be expected to cost, based on 17 measures of academic performance, and then we compared that figure to its actual cost.

number of books in the library.

Deciding what price to use in our analysis posed another problem. Financial aid can lower the cost of attending college significantly, and often the best schools are also the most generous; at some schools, fewer than half the students pay full price. But not everyone qualifies for aid, and schools may hand out sharply different amounts from year to year, depending on the needs of the students they admit. Another cost complication: at public institutions, tuitions are far lower for state residents than for others.

To create the most consistent system for cost comparison, we decided to use the school's full official price, and to use out-of-state charges in the case of public schools. One result of this approach is that a number of the most famous names in higher education — such as Harvard and Stanford — did not make our list of 10 best buys, even though their large endowments enable them to offer a great deal of financial aid to qualified students. For students who get such help, of course, those schools are great bargains. Similarly, the public schools we cite are even better deals for residents of those states. But low tuition was not a requirement for making the top 100: while Cooper Union, with its minuscule $300 annual fee, easily topped our private list, Caltech made it all the way to No. 2 with a tuition of $13,495, which makes it more expensive than 75% of the 1,000 colleges described in the

The top 200 schools for your education dollar — and how we found them

Schools that charged less than their "expected" cost scored highly; those that charged more fell in the rankings. We eliminated schools whose performance scores indicated that they provide a below-average education. The top 100 public schools and top 100 private schools are listed on the opposite page.

We used performance data that could be compared fairly from school to school. Everyone has his favorite benchmark. Thomas S. Anthony, dean of admission at Colgate, suggested we look at how much money each school devotes to student instruction. James Wickenden, an educational consultant in Princeton, N.J., said that the number of students that go on to get a Ph.D. is a good indicator of the faculty's ability to excite students about the subjects they teach. A number of experts cited the graduation rate as an excellent measure of how good a job the school does in satisfying the needs and demands of its undergraduates. Among the other yardsticks we included in our evaluation: the SAT scores and class rank of incoming freshmen, the student-faculty ratio, and the tables that start on page 74.

We did not consider two-year colleges and those that attract mainly adult students, and we eliminated narrowly specialized and sectarian colleges. We included science centers such as MIT and Caltech, however, because they offer a wide range of undergraduate studies and degrees in addition to the technical training they are known for. We omitted several schools with unique characteristics, most notably the three service academies — West Point, Annapolis and the Air Force Academy. They offer excellent education at no charge but require graduates to devote at least five years to military service, thereby masking their actual "cost."

One cautionary note: While our rankings highlight those colleges providing strong educations at prices that are more than fair, they are by no means intended to be a definitive guide to college choice. When shopping for a school, you will want to consider numerous other criteria, which are discussed in depth elsewhere in this issue.

The Annual Ball, which took place in November, initiated the thirty-fifth anniversary of Molloy's presence in the community. Black and white balloons dominated the decorations. The architect's design for the new building project highlighted the evening.

ANNUAL BALL

Bishop McGann, the members of the Board of Trustees, the administration, faculty, students and friends of Molloy joined together for this gala celebration.

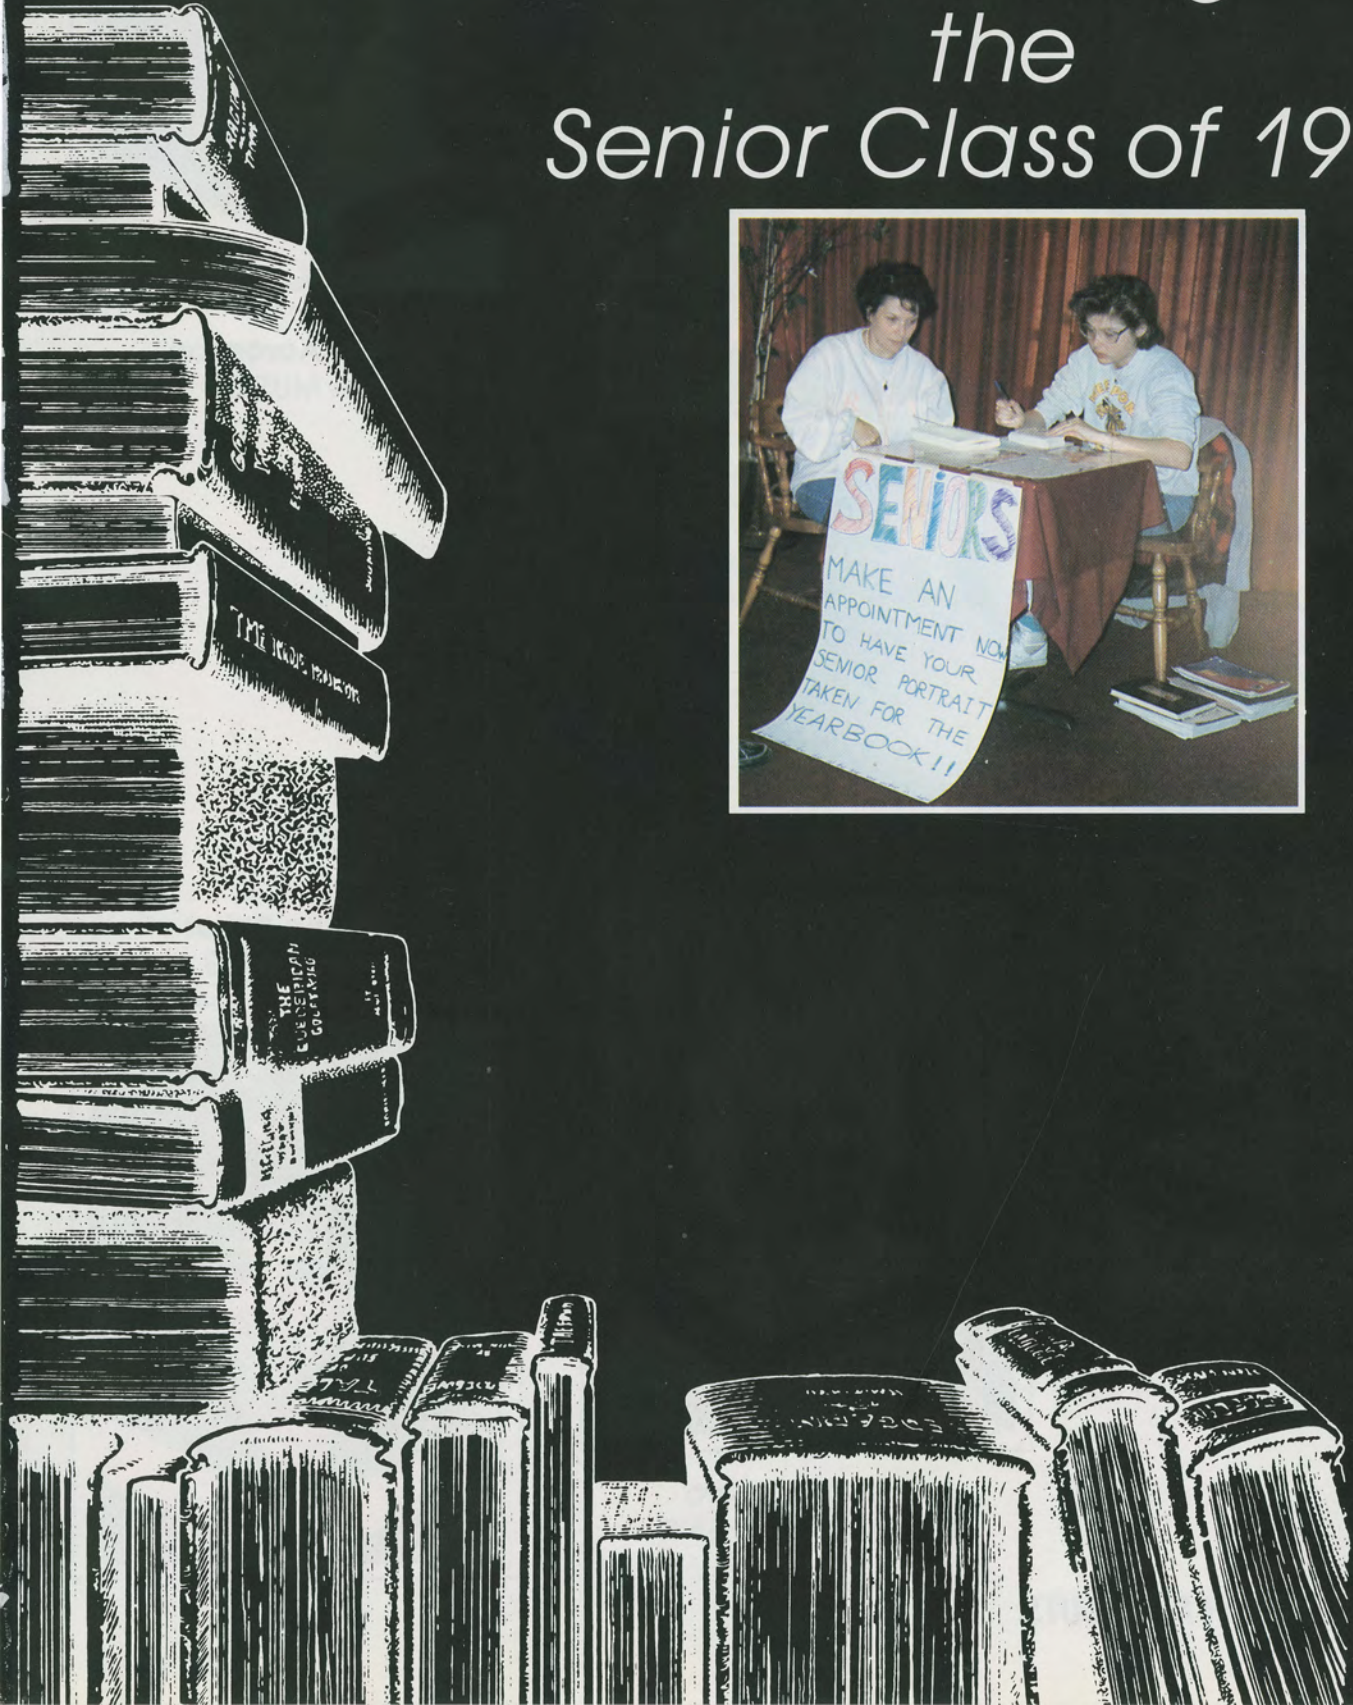

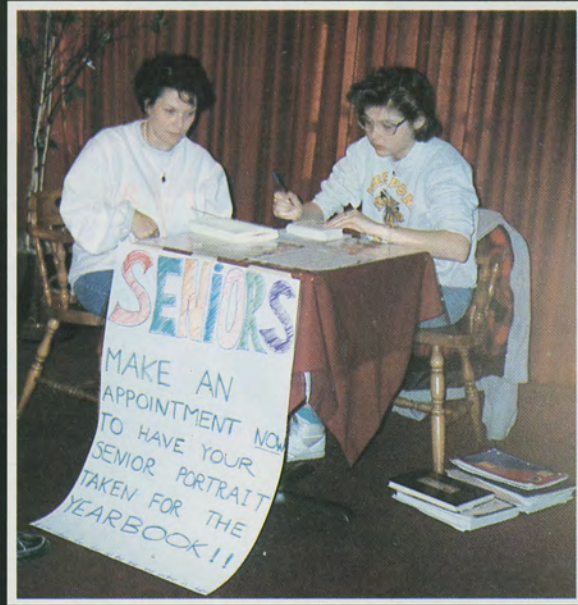

Members of the student government acted as hosts and hostesses and helped to sell chances, all in the interest of raising funds to support Molloy's educational efforts.

THE EQUESTRIAN TEAM

The members of the Equestrian Team participate in a series of meets and competitions with other college riding teams located on Long Island. Molloy hosts their meet at Gold Coast Stables in Greenvale. The advantage is that this riding arena is in a protective enclosure which, in case of inclement weather, shelters both riders and spectators.

Team members check harness and bindings for the next meet, while student spectators record the event.

Various riders display their mounts and their awards.

PUBLICATIONS

Molloy has three main groups responsible for producing published material reflective of current happenings and ideas. THE FORUM, Molloy's newspaper, offers students the opportunity to express a point of view in a monthly format. CURIOUSER AND CURIOUSER, the literary magazine, provides a format for aspiring writers and artists. CHRYSALIS, the yearbook, keeps the memories of Molloy alive for years to come.

Many other clubs are available to the students for their enjoyment and creative output. These clubs also serve as further inspiration and enrichment for one's major field of study. Still others allow students to explore talents beyond their scholastic endeavor.

During the January 1990 Intercession, students under the supervision and guidance of Sister Mary Verity McNicholas, discovered how classrooms expand beyond the four walls of any given room. All who participated in the "London Experience" enjoyed visiting and exploring historic sites in London, such as Westminster Abbey, the beautiful gardens of Hampton Court Palace, and the Tower of London.

As the group prepared to depart for the United States, they enjoyed a one-day visit to Holland.

MOLLOY STUDENT GOVERNMENT

The '90-'91 school year was a very busy one for those involved with student concerns. Those serving in government, contributed much to the success of students' awareness and participation in a variety of activities.

The activities designated in response to January's Desert Storm, reflected the creativity and imagination of those serving Molloy's student body.

One of the many functions of student government is the pleasant task of planning the various social activities for Molloy's students. Formals and semi-formals, as well as special occasion dances, provide monthly events for student participation.

A big favorite with everyone is the Halloween Mixer. Costumes of every imaginable type pass through the hallowed doors of Quealy Hall.

Desert Storm brought Molloy's students to a keen awareness of America's military personnel.

The yellow ribbons on this evergreen tree served as a reminder of those we know and love in the Persian Gulf.

The tree trimming with yellow ribbons proved to be a very moving experience for all who participated.

MOLLOY'S RESPONSE TO DESERT STORM

S. Peggy Tully led the occasion with a prayer.

S. Janet Fitzgerald fastens her reminder to our evergreen.

Many students took time out of their busy schedules to be mindful of our troops stationed in the Gulf.

Although life and classes went on as usual, there was something else to consider.

The evergreen tree, with its yellow ribbons, gave everyone the hope that soon the troops would return home safe and sound.

ARTS AND ACTIVITIES

At the Semi-Formal, everyone queued up for a fun-filled evening.

Throughout the year the Siena Women's Center sponsors informative guest speakers.

Here one gets a brief glance at the Winter Photography Show.

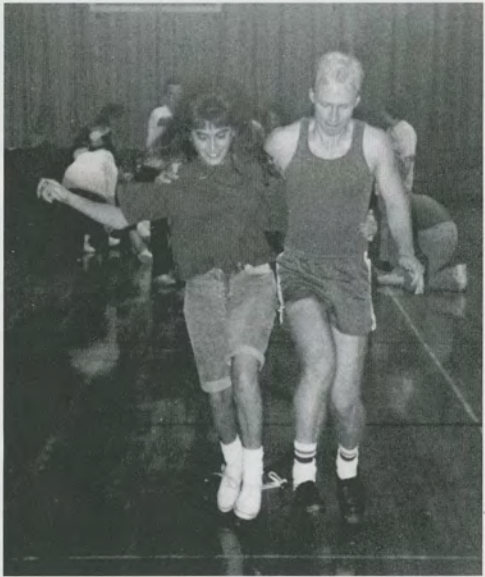

The festive setting, which accompanied the annual exhibition from the Art Department was a still life study in itself.

This year's participants in the Senior Creative Show take a moment to pause for a group portrait.

Molloy's Students took a change of pace with Silly Sports Night.

Everyone has a good time at the many Mixers held in the Anselma Room.

Faculty and students join in the fun at Silly Sports Night.

IN MEMORIAM . . .

DR. WILLIAM DAVIS, a dedicated faculty member, always had time to spare for students. He exuded a tremendous amount of energy and when on campus, he focused all his attention toward their needs. His warm smile and upbeat attitude will be sorely missed by the Molloy community.

At the memorial service held in Hayes Theatre, the fraternity brothers of Dr. William Davis honor his memory by singing Fraternity songs.

Dr. Davis' wife and daughters receive flowers while one of his grandsons looks on.

Dr. Mary Theresa Fitzpatrick addressed those assembled for this solemn occasion.

JOHN BERNARD MULGREW, O.P.

Jubilarian

Born: April 10, 1913
Professed: August 16, 1932
Ordained: June 16, 1938
Died: May 26, 1991

"A true son of Saint Dominic, Father John B. Mulgrew's entire priestly career has been a realization of his founder's ideal, 'contemplata aliis tradere,' that is, 'to contemplate and to give to others the fruits of contemplation'."

*— Sister Janet Fitzgerald, O.P. in the Molloy College
President's Medal Citation of February 28, 1991*

John Aloysius Mulgrew was born in Philadelphia, PA, on April 10, 1913, the son of James Francis and Sarah 'Sadie' (Roach) Mulgrew. He attended St. Veronica's Grammar School in Philadelphia from 1918 until 1925. After a year at St. Columbia's High School in Philadelphia, he enrolled at Aquinas College High School in Columbus, OH, graduating in 1929. He spent the next two years doing undergraduate work at Providence College in Providence, RI.

John Mulgrew entered the Dominican Novitiate of St. Joseph's Province at St. Rose Priory in Springfield, KY, in the summer of 1931, receiving the religious name Bernard. (However, for most of his Dominican life, his friends affectionately called him 'Soggy!') He made his first profession there on August 16, 1932. For the next three years he studied philosophy at the Dominican House of Studies in River Forest, IL. He made his solemn profession at St. Joseph's Priory in Somerset, OH, on August 16, 1935. He studied theology there for a year before moving on to the Dominican House of Studies in Washington, DC, where he continued his theological studies. He was ordained to the priesthood at St. Dominic's Church in Washington on June 16, 1938, by the Most Reverend John M. McNamara, Auxiliary Bishop of Baltimore. After a further year of theological studies in Washington, he was awarded the prestigious Lectorate in Sacred Theology.

In 1939 Father Mulgrew was 'loaned' to the Western Dominican Province of the Holy Name, spending the next nine years teaching theology at St. Albert's College in Oakland, CA. He also assisted in the spiritual formation of the Dominican students there. From 1948 until 1952 he taught philosophy and theology at Trinity College in Washington, DC. From 1952 until 1954 he served as chaplain at the Dominican Nuns' Monastery of Our Lady of Grace in North Guilford, CT. From 1954 until 1957 he was again 'on loan,' this time to the Trappist Monks of St. Joseph's Abbey in Spencer, MA, where he instructed the younger members of the community in theology. His love of Thomism and his unique ability to teach Thomistic theology is still gratefully remembered at Spencer.

In 1957 he began his twenty-one year teaching career at St. John's University in Jamaica (Queens), NY, where he taught philosophy on the undergraduate and graduate levels. He also taught at the St. John's Campus on Staten Island, NY. During part of this time, he was a member of the Dominican community at Sacred Heart Priory in Jersey City, NJ; at other times, he resided closer to the St. John's Jamaica Campus. As had been his custom since the early 1940s, he continued to spend many of his summers teaching philosophy and theology at different colleges and sisters' motherhouses in various parts of the country.

In 1978 Father Mulgrew began his final assignment at Molloy College in Rockville Centre, LI, NY. He spent the last thirteen years of his life doing what he always loved most to do, teaching philosophy and theology to eager young students. In his usual personal and scholarly manner, he taught (among other things) the difficult course in medical ethics to hundreds of Molloy College students; he also served as assistant chaplain of the College. In 1988 he received the College's Ten-Year Service Award. In February of 1991, less than three months before his death, he was awarded the College's highest award, the President's Medal, "for his charismatic Dominican teaching in the philosophy department and the pastoral benefits of his priesthood to all who called upon him."

By early 1990 Father Mulgrew's health had gone into serious decline. He continued to reside at Molloy College, often requiring professional nursing care. Father John A. Madigan, O.P., and Sister Janet A. Fitzgerald, O.P. the College's President, were particularly mindful of Father Mulgrew's needs. On May 26, 1991, just as the members of the Province of St. Joseph were gathering at Providence College to celebrate a Provincial Assembly, Father John Mulgrew was called home to the Lord after a long life of devoted priestly service.

Father Thomas J. Ertle, O.P., Prior Provincial, was the principal celebrant of a Mass of Christian burial for Father Mulgrew in the Chapel of Molloy College on May 30, 1991. Father John T. Carrigan, O.P., a classmate and close friend, was the homilist. Many of Father Mulgrew's associates, students, and friends participated in the Mass. Afterwards Father Mulgrew's body was laid to rest in the Dominican Plot at All Souls' Cemetery in Pleasantville, NY.

Well done, Soggy, good and faithful servant, come and share your Master's joy!

MARY E. LILLY NIGHT

Maria Mercurio, feted for her services as President of Student Government.

Installation of new officers is a highlight of the evening's events.

The events of this night are intended to honor those who unselfishly give their time and talents to the variety of organizations in which they participate, in the spirit and memory of Mary E. Lilly, Class of 1967.

Mary E. Lilly was a member of the women's basketball team, played for the orchestra, was involved with glee club and dramatics, was active with student government, was chairman of Sophomore Tradition and 55 Night. She was well-rounded, dedicated and a popular student at Molloy. Unfortunately, she died tragically in 1968, the year after she graduated. Thus, on this night, we commemorate her memory by honoring those who are active in the various clubs and teams at Molloy. We dedicate this night to Mary E. Lilly who truly exemplified excellence and the ideals of leadership and athletics.

HONORS CONVOCATION

Ellen Fitelson receives her hood from S. Janet.

Jeanette McShane reflects the joy of someone who's reached that special day.

Judge Maryellen Fitzmaurice, Molloy graduate, addresses the graduating class.

Dr. Roger Dupre and his wife Anne, received THE SEARS-ROEBUCK FOUNDATION AWARD.

ACADEMIC HERALDRY

The caps, gowns, and hoods worn at college and university functions date back to the Middle Ages. Monks and students of those days wore them to keep warm in the damp and drafty 12th century castles and halls of learning.

The gown for the bachelor's degree has a semi-stiff yoke, long pleated front, and intricate shirring across the shoulders and back. It is primarily distinguished by its long pointed sleeves.

The holder of a master's degree wears a gown with the same yoke effect as the bachelor's. The gown, however, is worn open, and the very long sleeve is squared and closed at the end, the forearm coming through a slit near the elbow.

The gown for the doctor's degree is also worn open. It has broad velvet panels down the front and three velvet bars on the large, bell-like sleeves. This velvet trimming may be either black or the color distinctive of the field of learning to which the degree pertains.

Generally, all caps may be of serge or broadcloth. In addition, doctor's caps may be of velvet and adorned by a gold tassel.

The hood gives color and distinction to the academic costume. The hood — a black shell-like affair of varying size for the three degrees and material to match the gown — is silk-lined stressing the colors of the institution conferring the degree. The hood is then bordered with velvet of the color signifying the respective fields of learning.

The colors indicative of the various fields of learning are as follows:

Arts and Letters . . . . .	White	Library Science . . . . .	Lemon
Laws . . . . .	Purple	Education . . . . .	Light Blue
Philosophy . . . . .	Blue	Science . . . . .	Golden Yellow
Fine Arts . . . . .	Brown	Business Administration . . . . .	Light Brown
Music . . . . .	Pink	Nursing . . . . .	Apricot

It is important to note that the field of learning having prior mention in the conferment of a degree, and not the department governing the major work, determines the color that is proper for the velvet of the hood. The doctor of philosophy degree requires the blue velvet irrespective of the major field. If more than one degree is held, the gown and hood of the highest degree are worn.

Some of the institutional colors to be seen at an academic ceremony are as follows: Catholic University, lemon yellow with white chevron; Columbia, light blue and white chevron; Fordham, maroon; New York University, violet; St. John's University, bright red and white chevron; Molloy College, cerise with white chevron.
