

The World of a Child

Lauren Spotkov

A child's ability to imagine is important,
But what if that ability didn't just belong to children?
What if everyone had that gift?
What if they have it now, and have only forgotten?
What if everyone from every age group viewed their lives through a child's eyes?
What if everyone changed his or her thinking?
What if positive thinking replaced negative feelings?
And what if the negative feelings began to fade?
What would the world become?
What would happen if adults thought more like the children that they used to be?
Maybe the world just might be better,
A most positive place.
